

glacier

© 2011 Jerry Jindrich. All rights reserved.

A glacier is made of ice and snow. It slides very slowly downhill, dragging dirt and rocks along with it. In Glacier Bay National Park, the glaciers slide toward the bay where pieces break off and then melt or float out to the ocean.